MEANING OF THE NAME

The surname Hollingsworth is derived from a place in northeast Cheshire, of the same name, supposedly the place called "Holisurde" in the Domesday Book for Cheshire, and pronounced "Hollis-worth," but probably intended to be "Hollinworth." It is in the Parish of Mottram-in-Longdendale, a few miles south of Manchester. It is possible that several separate families using this place as a surname came into existence at an early day. There are also two other places with this name in Lancashire north of Manchester. The Cheshire place was barren, and called waste at the time of Domesday (1086) and it was not until about the time of Magna Carta (1215) that we find any person using the name as a personal family name. This was "Tomas De Holinewurth" (here the name is transliterated into Latin) who was a signatory on a charter of about that period. The two Anglo-Saxon words, Holegn (or Holyn), a Holly bush, and Worp (or Worde) meaning an enclosure, or farmstead, are said to be the origin of the name for this place now called Hollingsworth in Cheshire, or, "A farm (homestead) enclosed by holly bushes," or simply "Holly Farm." In later centuries a medial "s" came to be used by some of the families, but not as a general rule earlier than 1620. There are now five generally used forms: Hollingsworth, Hollinsworth, Hollingworth, Hollinworth and Hollandsworth. These are regularly found in the indexes to vital records from 1837 at St. Catherine's House, London, and in most telephone or city directories for large cities in England and America.

INTENT OF THIS QUARTERLY

Hollingsworth Register is now entering its eleventh year of publication. It started in April, 1965, and its purpose remains as it was at that time: To publish verbatim copies or abstracts of records of the family world wide from the earliest times to the present day. Nearly every name of our family from the U.S. Census, 1790 through 1860, has been published here. About 1,700,000 pages of census were scoured to produce that result. We think no other family has thus been served.

The Burbank Theatre Comes Down

by

Harry Hollingsworth

Nostalgia still has a tight grip on us. It seems to become stronger when reality becomes boring or rancid as it is today. This could explain the recent mushroom of genealogical interest also. It doesn't require a lesson from Freud to teach our senses that bad times can be forgotten at least for a while if one thinks about the "good old days."

Likewise, when an old landmark comes tumbling down, the memories associated with it return and seem to shine more brightly. In the 1970 (Vol. 6) issues of Hollingsworth Register I published the biographical material I had collected about my father, Harry Hollingsworth who was an actor and who died in 1947. His career began almost at the turn of the century in Los Angeles at the Burbank Theatre at 548 South Main Street. Well, as I begin to write this article, the 86 year old building is being battered to pieces by the employees of Cleveland Wrecking Company. By the time this magazine is delivered, it will be gone.

The Burbank Theatre was built by David Burbank, and he was the owner until his death, at which time it passed into the hands of his son in law, John W. Griffin. It was started in the spring of 1888, and opened for business in 1893. My father was born Sept. 3, 1888, and was a contemporary of the old building, which makes it doubly nostalgic for me when I contemplate the destruction of the Burbank. The walls were nearly two feet thick of brick and mortar. The roof was of timber. No steel in the construction. I watched the other day, as the crane pulled down one of the great beams, constructed of laminated redwood. It had survived many a near disaster. At least three fires had ravaged the auditorium, and the Long Beach Earthquake of March 27, 1933 had split the back wall which had to be patched with a great hun of concrete. The old front of the building, shown in a 1905 photo, looked nothing like a theatre. The date 1893 was carved above the entrance. A new facade and marquee was added later. At first, business there seemed to be jinxed. From opening night until 1898, some thirteen different managers had leased the place, and folded, which is an average of one manager every six months. This was culminated in the first fire, June 5, 1897, when the stage was burned up completely. It may have "purged" or purified the atmosphere, for many years of successful shows were on the threshold. The stage was restored, and the interior painted a beautiful rose color with very fancy designs. But along came a young man named Oliver Morosco from San Francisco, looking for a place to lease or buy to produce plays. He didn't like the interior and promptly had it repainted green. I think he liked the color of money.

When Oliver Morosco leased the Burbank Theatre, my father, Harry Hollingsworth, was only ten. Before he was fifteen, Harry was acting on the Burbank stage. I prove this by citing the date on a playbill for the show on Sunday, April 3, 1904 - now over seventy years ago - in which Dad's then stage name is printed. If he apprenticed as a so-called "supe" or spearcarrier, a member of the "extra" group who got only mass billing, then I assume he had been acting at least for one year. The play on April 3 was "The Frisky Mrs. Johnson" starring Mi-

Florence Roberts, a very well known actress of the day. Harry took the role of "Lord Bertie Heathcote" and the billing shows his stage name was Frank Hollins! On the next Sunday, he supported her again in the play "Peggy Thrift the Country Girl," and on the 17th, as "Jacques Rigault" in "Zaza" with Miss Roberts in the title role. And on the 25th of April two plays were given by her, Sapho, one of her special vehicles, and Camille, the play which we still recall as a movie with Greta Garbo, translated from the French of Alexandre Dumas the Younger. Dad played "Gustave" in that one, and William Desmond was always in a major supporting role, because he was the Burbank's Leading Man.

Years later, Dad recalled that he had started out supporting Clay Clement and Florence Roberts. (HR 6:3) When Florence Roberts departed Los Angeles Harry did not follow. She performed the same plays in San Francisco a week or two later with a different supporting cast. Harry probably was working at the theater without his father's knowledge!

Other famous names playing in those days, were Fay Bainter, who started in 1905 at age 12. She is best known for her role as the mother in the Danny Kaye movie "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." Marie Boland, later Mary, was there, and Charles Ruggles, and Bebe Daniels, then a child too. (Playbills, chronological, Los Angeles Central Library, Literature Department.)

On October 15, 1905, we find Dad using half his real name, as Frank Hollingsworth, in "The Forbidden Marriage," starring William Desmond. Sunday, Nov. 12, 1905 he played the part of "Mailton, the conductor," in "The Judge and the Jury" written, produced and directed by Oliver Morosco himself. It was a western idyl in four acts, according to the publicity. In that same year "Hedda Gabler," by Henrik Ibsen, the renowned Scandinavian, was given. Harry did not appear. This was the first really "cultural" play, according to some critics, ever to be given in Los Angeles, and certainly the first of Ibsen's works. But Shakespeare cannot be far behind Ibsen, now can he? "The Merchant of Venice" by the Bard, was given on Dec. 17, 1905, with William Desmond as Bassanio, and Harry Hollingsworth as his servant, Leonardo. In the Nov. 12th play, he had used his full true name, and used it always thereafter. His appearances continued throughout the spring of the next year, and finally on Sept. 9, 1906 as "Phillippe" in "Trilby" starring Miss Mary Van Buren. As he said later, he was on a salary of three dollars a week! He went on the road after that, and you can refer to HR Vol. 6 for details. Morosco's Burbank Theatre went onward and upward, and Morosco garnered laurels for his continuously high-class productions. "Bird of Paradise" in 1912 was one. Morosco by 1913 had five theatres under his control, including the Morosco, built for him at 8th and Broadway, now renamed the Globe, and still operating. He brought Harry Hollingsworth back from the east coast where he had been a successful Leading Man for several years to play the role of one of the young engineers in The Builders, in July 1913. After this Dad went East again. But in 1916 he came back at last to the old home theater, The Burbank, for the last time. The play was "Mary" by Ashton Stevens. This time, Dad was the star, "Smith, the Socialist," opposite Edith Lyle the Leading Woman. It opened at the Burbank on April 3, 1916 and Dad got rave reviews. (HR 6:9) Warner Baxter and his wife, Winifred Bryson, were in the cast. Curiously enough, these are facts deliberately ignored by Helen M. Morosco in her biography of Oliver, published just before his death in 1945. In "The Oracle of Broadway," page 271, she wrote (writing it as if it was Morosco himself doing the writing) "I opened "Mary" at the Morosco Theatre, July 3, 1916, with Warner Baxter and his wife, Winifred Bryson, heading the cast." Wrong, wrong, wrong, Helen! Get your facts right. The book was turned down by all major publishers and finally was taken by a firm specializing in romantic western fiction! Nevertheless, much of it is worth reading, like any genealogy, with a watchful eye! The switch of names and theaters was probably a deliberate one, because, in 1945, Warner Baxter was still well known, but Dad had lapsed into obscurity as a day player and theater manager. Harry appeared as Lead in one more play at the Burbank the 10th of July, and then was fired. I have the telegram to this day. Maybe this is why Harry's name is not mentioned in the biography, even when it would have been only in passing.

As America was on the threshold of the Great War, Morosco decided to drop his lease on the Burbank. After nearly twenty years of his management (which began in 1899 with "Madame Sans Jean") he closed on Jan. 7, 1917, with "Seven Keys to Baldpate." And there ended dramatic legitimate entertainment at the theater forever. Morosco went East "shopping for plays", but not for the Burbank, for the Morosco! The papers began screaming the title "Hello Hawaii" a musical comedy extravaganza, to open Feb. 12, 1917. A review adds that "musical comedy at popular prices for the Burbank is the programme now." After opening, the thing was panned. Lillian Wiggins the soubrette, Hazel Ragan the Vamp, with Bob Sandberg and Ben Dillon for "laughs," "gives a Main Street audience a Main Street Show...I wouldn't care to contribute to its delinquency or support." Of course it was Burlesque.

"Gore's Burbank Theatre" was the name in the twenties. Such epics as "The Morning After" with Ed Armstrong's Baby Dolls is advertised on April 1, 1920; On March 16, 1922 "Hi Jinks Revues - 75 people - Beauty Chorus of 30:" "Short Pants With the Thirty Girls" on May 17, 1927; and so on, down the hill. Striptease bowed in as World War Two came around. Dixie Sullivan the Fiery Redheaded Venus was touted in the Examiner of Oct. 7, 1945; Betty Rowland the Ball of Fire (1947), Christine (1950); Lizette (1952); Ricki Covette, 6 feet 8 of TNT (1955); Sweet Sue Martin with Eight Nudie Cuties (1956); Jacki Paar (no less) and a Mystery Stripper, and the famous Lili St. Cyr, all in 1965; Taffi O'neil in 1966; and Gay Dawn on Nov. 5, 1967, and then the live entertainment closed, and was replaced, almost inevitably, by "X" rated movies. Not long after that, the doors closed to show business. The same telephone number had been listed for the entire half century. It was taken out in 1971. I had looked it over in 1971, and thought about getting inside, but never pressed the matter until too late.

Oliver Morosco was killed August 25, 1945, at North Saint Andrews Place and Hollywood Boulevard, by a Pacific Electric "Red Car." He died virtually broke. The powerful Shuberts of New York forced him out of business there, it is said, and the Crash of 1929 did the rest.

I took snapshots of the old building before and during the demolition. A huge, ancient Coca Cola sign could be seen on the back wall facing Los Angeles Street. (The auditorium had about a 1,600 seat capacity, and the building went almost three quarters of the way from Main Street to Los Angeles Street.) Above it another, older one, with the prices "Morosco's Burbank Theatre - Change of play every week - Prices 10-25-35-50¢ - Matinee 10 & 35¢." On the front south side, a quaint ad for "Owl Cigars," which later became White Owl, I think, and the slogan "Morosco's Burbank Theatre - The best players in the best plays in America for the money." The front marquee still bears the word "Burlesk" which was part of its change of name in the fifties to "The New Follies Burlesk." The demolition company has put their own touch there: "NOW PLAYING ... The 'BIGGEST BUST OF ALL' by the NATION'S GREATEST STRIPPER CLEVELAND WRECKING CO."

The old procenium arch over the stage used to be a very high oval one, but it was lowered and given a new flat topped look after the fire of 1937. Wreckers told me they found timber under the stage in a charcoal condition, but buttressed on both sides by newer wood - evidence of the 1897 fire. Still another fire had burned in the balcony. The whole cause isn't lost! The bricks are being carefully removed and put in stacks for future sale as "used brick." An auction is planned, whereby the memorabilia will be sold. Unfortunately, nearly all of it is from the burlesque period with almost nothing dating to Morosco's tenure.

When I was snooping round there, I fortunately met a young reporter from the Herald-Examiner. We talked, and I gave him most of the information I had about the theater's history which he published in a full page story, mentioning Harry Hollingsworth in his proper place, as an equal with Warner Baxter, Edmund Lowe, and Charles Ruggles, as a dramatic star. (Issue of Monday April 8, 1974, page A-6.) Another shorter story appeared in the Los Angeles Times of Thursday, March 14, on page 1 of part three.

Harry Hollingsworth has been dead over a quarter of a century; Oliver Morosco almost thirty. Now their theater is hastening to join them in the dust of memory. Soon, a smooth parking lot will cover that spot which for so long breathed, sang and danced with vibrant life. But the memories of it all will remain in the minds of those who know. And for a more tangible memento, maybe I'll just go down there and get myself an old brick and put it up on the mantel!

Margaret Calvert - First Wife of Thomas Hollingsworth?

Mr. Frank R. Baird, 5 East Rhodes Avenue, West Chester, Pennsylvania 19380, has contributed most of the information which makes this article possible. It is a new theory to your editor. But it is a very interesting one, and looks quite probable.

Thomas² Hollingsworth was the third child and second son of Valentine Hollingsworth by his first wife Ann Ree (Rea-Rhea?), and was born at Ballyvickcrannell, Parish of Seagoe, County Armagh, Ireland, "the beginning of the third month Anno Domini 1661" according to the birth records on page 203 of Lurgan Quaker Record Book, Public Record Office, 66 Balmoral Avenue, Belfast, Northern Ireland. Your editor owns a microfilm of this book. We assume he was born on the first day of May, that being the third month up until 1753. Joseph Adger Stewart's book gives "March" because he did not know this fact. (See HR 1:8) His first wife's name was Margaret, but the date of their marriage, the place, and her surname has never been known, at least.

recent memory. She died 1st of 8th month (October) 1687 and was buried in Friends' Burial Ground, Newark, Pennsylvania (now Delaware). (See HR 7:7) Margaret Hollingsworth married Thomas in America, no doubt, for their only child, Abraham Hollingsworth, was born 19th of 1st month (March) 1686/87, and Thomas Hollingsworth came to America in December, 1682 with his father and stepmother (Ann Calvert, sister of Margaret) and Margaret - if her surname was indeed Calvert - came in the Lion of Liverpool in 1683 with Henry Hollingsworth, elder brother of Thomas. (Philadelphia Book of Arrivals shows "Margaret Colvert, late of Dublin, Ireland," on the list of the Lion, which arrived 14 of 8th mo. (Oct.) 1683. See The Welcome Claimants, by George E. McCracken, No. 2, p. 130) The marriage has never been located. You will note that Margaret Hollingsworth died when the child Abraham was only seven months old. Thomas then married, 31st of 1st mo. 1692, Grace Cook, daughter of ___Cook and Elizabeth Fox, then wife of Nathaniel Parke.

Here is the record of the family of Thomas Calvert from Lurgan Record Book, page 200: His wife was Jane Glasford.

1. John Calvert, b. 8mo 6, 1648 near Belfast; m. Judith Stamper.
2. Ann Calvert, b. 9mo 1650 in the District of Killwarlin, Co Down married as 2nd wife, Valentine Hollingsworth, Sr.
3. Margaret Calvert, b. 4mo 24, 1661, Killurgan townland, Seagoe Parish, Co Armagh. (HR 1:103 - the Hearthmoney tax rolls of 1664 show Thomas Calvert taxed for one hearth there, the copy of which was misspelt "Rinurgan" and copied thus in HR.) Came to America - probably the same as Margaret Colvert of "Lion."
4. Elizabeth Calvert, b. 4mo 26, 1664, Killurgan; m. Thomas Toppen, 10mo 25, 1701, at Ballyhagan Meeting, Ireland.

Note: Only the names and dates of birth and birthplaces are from the Lurgan Meeting Book. Other data was added by Cope or Harry Hollingsworth!

Gilbert Cope, a noted Quaker historian and genealogist, made a note in red ink beside the birth of Margaret Calvert in his own copy: "I suspect that Margaret Calvert was first wife of Thomas Hollingsworth." (Historical Society of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.)

Mr. Baird has submitted a number of Quaker minutes and Court records which shed more light. Your editor has also made a search and adds a few items.

From the Minutes of Chester Monthly Meeting, published HR 1:57-

6th of 4th mo. 1687 There being a difference between Thomas Hollingsworth & John Calvert about y^e deviding their lands in y^e township of Upper Providence. This meeting now ordereth Bartholomew Coppock y^e younger, John Hastings, James Kenerly and Caleb Pusey to inspect and to hear y^e testimony in y^e said dispute and to give an account thereof to y^e next meeting.

4th of 5th mo. 1687 ... the difference was opened the parties were desired to come to the Quarterly Meeting. (It appears John Calvert disputed the recommendations.)

1st of 6th mo. 1687: Agreed that a paper of testimony against John Calvert be given forth to public view if after he had heard it read to him he gives not cause to the contrary. (This was proceeding toward disownment! It was for stubbornness, no doubt. But note the next minute seems to signify that peace had been restored between them:

12th month 6, 1687, The matter of difference between John Calvert and Thomas Hollingsworth is answered and ended.

The really significant thing about these minutes is that the disputes progressed while Margaret Hollingsworth was alive, but the rather sudden settlement, although not elucidated, came after her death. Mr. Baird's further information from civil court records:-

(Records of the Court of Chester County, Pennsylvania, page 200.)

At a meeting of the Commissioners y^e 11 of Second month 1691. Present Robert Turner, John Goodson, Samuel Carpenter. Ordered that a Patent for John Calvert in his own name for 700 acres of said land in Chester County being granted by the Proprietor (Wm. Penn - Ed.) the 13th of the 1st month 1683 unto Thomas Calvert 300 acres, John Calvert, 300 acres and unto Margaret Calvert 100 acres, being now made appear to us that the whole 700 acres is properly y^e said John Calverts. (Minute Book E, Board of Property, Penna. Archives, 2nd Series; Vol. 19, p. 66)

Next, the editor has had the Nuncupative or oral will of Thomas Calvert in mind for years, but hasn't done anything about it until now. It was spoken 15th of 1st month 1684/85 in presence of Joshua Hastings, Randal Vernon (his mark) Peter Taylor (his mark), George Read. Administration was granted to his daughter, Margaret Calvert. (Vol. A, p. 30, Wills, # 23 Hall of Records, Philadelphia, abstract in Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, Vol. 1, p. 55.) He is styled "Thomas Calvert of Chester County, Penna., Husbandman," and leaves 200 acres to daughter Margaret Calvert, who is to pay L8 to her sister Elizabeth when sold. To Margaret also some household items. "To wife and daughter Margaret the rest of his goods, and to Margaret one mare and one cow." It appears this indeed is Thomas Calvert the father of Ann Hollingsworth, husband of Jane Glasford. He was only 68. The will was proved 17 12th mo 1685/6, but he most likely died immediately after it was spoken. He did not name son John, nor daughter Ann Hollingsworth. Another court case incidentally helps our quest:

Joshua Hastings, Pltf. v Ffrancis Yarnall, Deft, in an Action of trespassse. (1686) Among witnesses who were sworn are: Judith Calvert, John Calvert, Jane Calvert and Margrett Hollingsworth - in that order! (Francis Yarnall was accused of taking Hastings' large boar.) Judith is John's wife; Jane is his mother, and Margaret Hollingsworth is his sister!

Something of British Law must be known to understand why all Margaret's land became John's. As Eldest son and heir at law, in an Intestacy (father left no will) the eldest would succeed automatically to all the land of his father in one chunk, unless the son was a bastard. (The personal estate was divided equally, according to Act of Parliament 22 Charles II - 1670.) Of course the widow obtained rights for her life. But she could not alter the passage of the land in any way; it passed to the eldest son at her death. However, Thomas Calvert made a verbal will as we see, providing 200 acres for Margaret. This should have stood fast, especially since 100 acres had been made out in the grants of the proprietor to her. The other 500 acres of the 700 acre tract in Upper Providence would go to John anyway, since part was in his name and the rest in his father's name, which would pass to him as Thomas knew. So the thrust of his will was to get his daughters and his widow provided for. Of course, we are to assume he was a dying man, and unable to think clearly enough to get all his desires spoken to his listeners.

The property given to Margaret Calvert, who was soon to be Hollingsworth, would be the property of Thomas Hollingsworth in his wife's right. Why exactly, John started his actions to claim all the land we can't say. But Thomas Hollingsworth sued John Calvert, after the dispute couldn't be quietened by the Quakers in their sessions, which almost got John disowned. But while the case was in progress, poor Margaret died. The grief which this engendered must have caused Thomas Hollingsworth to withdraw his suit and make peace.

We think Hollingsworth might have won his case. If you readers have proof that we are wrong do write and tell us so. But until such proof be given, we are inclined to agree with Frank R. Baird and Gilbert Cope, that Margaret the wife of Thomas Hollingsworth - mother of Abraham Hollingsworth of "Abraham's Delight" at Winchester, Virginia - must be the daughter of Thomas and Jane (Glasford) Calvert, formerly of Killurgan, late of Drumgorr, both of Seagoe Parish, Co Armagh, Ireland, but last of Upper Providence Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania!

Pennsylvania research tabulation: 29 rolls of microfilm; 76 volumes of census schedules; 74,272 pages in these volumes. It took approximately 46 hours of research to get the above results. We have no explanation why there are many Hollingsworths found in 1860 who obviously should be found in 1850, which were not, other than your editor missed them all! Conversely, there are families in the 1850 who weren't found this time! Much of this is faded. The City of Philadelphia was done in 1968, and the families found at that time were re-checked this month to insure accuracy. However no new researches were made.

Barnett G. Hollingsworth

Mr. Myrl A. Swanson, 244 East 9th, San Bernardino, California, 92410, and Mr. Kenneth John Conner, 2142 North Arrowhead Ave., Apt. 103, San Bernardino, Calif. 92405, are interested in further research and correspondence on this man. Here is what we have found, and our opinion of his lineage.

Barnett G. Hollingsworth was probably a son of William and Lucy (Coleman) Hollingsworth of Union District, South Carolina. Facts already published in HR (Vol 2:138; 3:12,13,17,19; 4:71,115) show that one Joseph Coleman of Union District, S.C. made his will in 1806 and left bequests to his wife Sytha, among others. He died and Sytha remarried John Bowls. Sytha died 16 July 1844 intestate. Among the heirs of Sytha were Joseph Coleman Hollingsworth and Barnett Hollingsworth, children of the late Lucy Hollingsworth, who was formerly Coleman. Both Lucy and her husband were dead at time Sytha Bowls died. The estate which would have passed to Lucy passed to the grandchildren. Barnett Hollingsworth made a relinquishment to others, of his interests in the 640 acres in Union District, S.C. with his brother Joseph as attorney, before Sytha Bowls died, in 1843. Barnett then lived in Union Co., Arkansas, and Joseph in Carroll Parish, Louisiana. An estate dated Dec., 1822, in Warren County, Mississippi, of one William Hollingsworth, late of said county, had Barnet Hollinsworth as administrator, with Reuben Newman as bondsman. We assume William was the father of Barnett. A deed in 1826 in Knox County, Indiana, shows Barnet Hollingsworth of Monroe County, Miss., sold land in Knox County to one Joseph Hollingsworth, identity unknown. Curiously, in the 1840 census, two Barnet Hollingsworth's appear, one in Knox County, Indiana, the second in Hempstead Co., Arkansas. Each family has eleven members, seven males and four females. But the catagories aren't the same, although it appears that both enumerations are of the same family. Barnett was born about 1800 and could have been, in 1840, either "30 to 40" (that is, of 30 years of age and under 40) or "40 to 50." There is no additional information that a second Barnett Hollingsworth existed.

The family bible belonging to Mrs. Susie Fields, of Kerens, Navarro Co., Texas, sent to your editor by Douglas R. Hollingsworth, 37 Sanford St., Bangor, Maine, gives a different date of birth for Barnet, however, and it is probably right. Here is a complete copy of the record:

Barnet G. Hollingsworth was born Sept. 29, 1801.
Pamila Smith was born June 3, 1811.
Patsy Hollingsworth was born Oct. 25, 1802.
Joseph Colman Hollingsworth was born Jan. 14, 1812.
Lucy Hollingsworth was born Dec. 12, 1830.
Saihre (Sarah?) Hollingsworth was born Dec. 8, 1831.
William Hollingsworth was born Dec. 18, 1832.
John Hollingsworth was born Feb. 4, 1834.
Joseph Hollingsworth was born April 12, 1835.
Billy Hollingsworth was born August 29, 1836.
Elizabeth Hollingsworth was born November 12, 1837.
Daniel Hollingsworth was born January 18, 1839.
Nathan Hollingsworth was born May 8, 1840.
Martha Hollingsworth was born Sept. 8, 1841.
Geo. Hollingsworth was born Feb. 24, 1843.
Caroline Hollingsworth was born May 6, 1844.
Lillay Hollingsworth was born June 23, 1846.
Samuel Hollingsworth was born March 29, 1847.
Dunkin Hollingsworth was born July 27, 1848.
Robert Hollingsworth was born Sept. 18, 1849.
Mary Hollingsworth was born Feb. 20, 1850 (sic: 1851?)
Elizabeth Hollingsworth was born Nov. 20, 1853.
Roland Hollingsworth was born Jan. 2, 1855.

The U.S. Census of 1850, Union Co., Arkansas (HR 4:71) and 1860 of Anderson Co., Texas, page 56 reverse - not yet published here - show this record substantially correct. The names of Patsy and Joseph Colman Hollingsworth are those of Barnett's brother and sister, probably (HR 4:101 shows J.C. Hollingsworth age 38 in Carroll Parish, La.)

If Barnett and Permlia (Smith) Hollingsworth had nineteen (19) children - and the census seems to verify it - this is then the largest Hollingsworth family we know of, by one man and one wife. (Nicholas Hollingsworth of Hollyfort, Co. Wexford, Ireland, a cousin of your editor, is said to have had a total of twenty-two (22) children, sixteen by one wife and six by the second.)

HR 2:54 gives a deed in 1805 in Union District, S.C. whereby William Hollingsworth Jr. and Lucy his wife sell land to William Glenn. (Book H p. 244.) It was land originally granted to Thomas Shockly, Jr. William Hollingsworth, Senior, granted to Spilsby Glenn, in 1805, land he had been granted. Both deeds are recorded 1 April 1805. It is our theory that William Hollingsworth Jr. was the son of William Senior, but not on account of the Junior-Senior designation, which, as you know, was not specifically used for that designation in those days. Rather, we find that William Hollingsworth, Sr. was preparing to go to Indiana at that time, and did so, with a large number of his relations, and died in Knox County, Indiana, in 1812, leaving a will (Book A, p. 41) naming sons Peter, John, Joseph and William, the last two being his executors. (See HR 2:100) We think this William Junior is the son of said William, and this would be the reason for Barnett's deed to Joseph Hollingsworth in Knox County in 1826, which seems to tie in with other deeds re-recorded in Knox County (HR 2:138) whereby William and William, Jr., are mentioned. Barnett died in 1874 according to Stewart.

The ancestry of Barnett G. (G. for Glenn?) Hollingsworth is probably this: Barnett G.⁶, William Jr.⁵, William Sr.⁴, Joseph³, Thomas², Valentine¹, Henry^a. William Sr. was the son of Joseph and Martha (Houghton) Hollingsworth, who came from Pennsylvania (now Delaware) to Anson County, North Carolina, before 1753. See HR Volume 2, pp. 43-46 and Stewart's 1925 book, pp. 160,161 (unindexed) for more details.

Now, Mr. Swanson and Mr. Conner want to know more about Barnett's son Daniel Hollingsworth, born Jan. 18, 1839 in Arkansas. He went to Anderson County, Texas with his parents, it is assumed. Mr. Conner is a descendant of one "D. Hollinsworth" and wife Martha Baker, in Texas by 1879 when their daughter Emily Pamela Hollingsworth was born 4 Sept. of that year. She married Andrew Clay Ellis. The family is supposed to have lived near Erath County, Texas. Significantly, Barnett Hollingsworth obtained a patent dated Feb. 20, 1875, 160 acres, Military Service land, in Erath County, Texas. (State Abstracts, Vol. 2, p. 262.) We are confident that "D. Hollingsworth" is Daniel, son of Barnett and Permelia, or Pamela Smith Hollingsworth. Can anybody contact Mr. Swanson and confirm?

Daguerreotype Survives Fifty Years in Hiding

Under that headline, the Los Angeles Times, Tuesday, July 5, 1932, had an interesting account: "CHINO, California, July 4 - A daguerreotype of her mother which had lain hidden between the plaster and outer wall of the family home in Illinois for more than fifty years has been restored to Miss Belle Marsh of 238 Seventh street, this city. The daguerreotype of Mrs. Marsh, then Miss Melinda Hollingsworth, 18 years of age, was taken eighty-two years ago (1850).

"One night a square dance was to be held at the Marsh home and when the front room was cleared for action Mrs. Marsh's picture, standing on a table with other articles and paper was hurriedly thrust out of the way in the attic opening, just above. The rather heavy daguerreotype in the frame went farther than was intended, but nobody thought anything of the matter at the instant.

"Mrs. Marsh often wondered what had become of it, but years passed on without any discovery of it. Finally both she and her husband died. A cousin had bought the old homestead. One day, Miss Bell Marsh received a message from the new owner to the effect that the house had been razed and during the process a strange old picture - "could it be that of your mother?" asked the note - had come to light.

"The daguerreotype was in practically as good condition as when it had taken the hiding slide behind the plaster." (From our former correspondent, Mrs. Ethel Aycock of Los Angeles. This Melinda Hollingsworth was of the Hollingsworths of Schuyler County, Illinois, descendant of Abraham who came there in the 1820s. However, we can't place Melinda in the census of 1850 or 1860. Something may be amiss with the computation of the age of the picture. If it was a true Daguerreotype (Pronounced Dah-gair-oh-type) it would or could indeed be of 1850 vintage. But if it was a "tintype", that is, a sheet of steel coated with photographic emulsion and then painted with japan laquer to preserve it, that process was not in use until 1860! Daguerreotypes were based on pure copper, and the photographic process was made on silver which was coated on the face of the copper. These are very rare; tintypes are very common, and were made from the 1860 period and on up to the end of the century.

OBITUARY:

(1) Mrs. John V. Hollingsworth - (1974)

Ruth Cox Hollingsworth, wife of John V. Hollingsworth, Sr., of Chadds Ford R.D. 1, (Delaware County, Pennsylvania) died Saturday (Mar. 2, 1974) at Concord Villa convalescent home, after being stricken with a stroke three weeks ago. She was 77.

Mrs. Hollingsworth was born in New Garden Township, daughter of the late Sharpless N. and Martha Taylor Cox. Surviving in addition to her husband are two daughters, Mrs. George Sterne of San Diego, Calif; and Betty Hollingsworth at home; and a son, John V. Hollingsworth, Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla.; four grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Alice Hollingsworth of Centerville, Delaware, and Mrs. Mabel Jackson of Kennett Square R.D.

Services will be Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the Hockessin Friends Meeting, with interment in the adjoining burial grounds. (Courtesy of Mr. Frank Baird, Westchester, Penna - she was the loving wife of our longtime correspondent, benefactor, and Hollingsworth family authority - and as the Irish say - this sadness is deeply regretted.)

(2) Mrs. Maie Hollingsworth Bridgers - (1973)

Mother of our correspondent and subscriber, Mrs. Lucille Bridgers Frizzell of Johnson City, Tennessee, Mrs. Maie Hollingsworth Bridgers died Dec. 26, 1973 at Range Hall Nursing Home in Johnson City. She was born Jan. 23, 1890, at Yazoo City, Mississippi, a daughter of John Clifton Hollingsworth and his wife Mollie Eleanor Bustin, and granddaughter of Isaac Gordon and Amanda (Perkins) Hollingsworth. Isaac's parents were James and Elizabeth (Newberry) Hollingsworth, and James's father was Jesse Hollingsworth who came to Twiggs County, Georgia from Jefferson County, that state, parentage not certain. Mrs. Bridgers was laid to rest in the Frizzell family plot in Monte Vista Cemetery, in Johnson City, Tennessee. She had been a lifelong resident of Yazoo City until her last illness. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church there, having previously belonged to the First Methodist Church before her marriage. The ground for the latter church had been given by her grandparents, Isaac and Amanda Hollingsworth, through a transfer of property. A stained glass window in the church stands sacred to their memory. She lived in her house across the street from the church, her entire lifetime, having been brought home in a basket at the age of only one month, in Feb., 1890, as Mrs. Frizzell has informed us.

By her request graveside services were held on Friday, Dec. 28th, with the assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and the minister of Central Baptist Church officiating.

The family has now shrunk to two aunts, Bessie Hollingsworth Pierce, Oakland, Tenn., and Lucille Hollingsworth Beacham, Canton, Miss., and Mrs. McElrath, Lyons, Georgia, Robert Hollingsworth, student at Belhaven College, Jackson, Miss., majoring in Bible, a preministerial student, Mrs. McElrath's brother, and their parents the Robert Hollingsworths of Jackson, and Mrs. D. G. Hollingsworth, widow, of Jackson; Mrs. Evelyn Simmons Brown, of Dallas, Texas, and her three children, and her brother Clifton Simmons of Cottontown, Tenn., and their four children, and Mrs. Frizzell and her three children. These few out of seven children born to John Clifton Hollingsworth. (From Mrs. Frizzell's letter of March 17, 1974.)

(3) Sylvester Columbus Hollingsworth (1972)

Mr. Hollingsworth, 81, died Saturday, Jan. 29, 1972, in an Oneonta (Alabama) hospital. Funeral was held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Lemley's Funeral Home Chapel with burial in Oak Grove Cemetery. Surviving were his wife; a son, S.C. Hollingsworth, Jr., Warrior; three daughters, Mrs. Margaret Tuck and Mrs. Dean Dellart, both of Oneonta, and Mrs. Anne H. Howard, Birmingham. (Alabama paper, courtesy Mrs. Lillian H. Ramirez of Conroe, Texas.)

(4) James Henry Hollingsworth (1972)

He was 64, and lived on Cleveland Route 1, Alabama. He died Friday (in August, 1972) and was a Blount County farmer. Funeral was at 2 p.m. at Green's Chapel Cumberland Presbyterian Church with burial in the adjoining cemetery. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Esther Hollingsworth; four daughters, Mrs. Bonnie Gibson, Mrs. Bobbie Jean Dunn, Mrs. Jimmy Faye Murphree and Mrs. Carolyn Simmons, all of Cleveland; and three sisters, Mrs. Lela Robertson and Mrs. Flora Bellew, Blountsville and Mrs. Norien Norine McHan, Cleveland. (Also from Mrs. Ramirez. The subject and Sylvester were brothers, sons of William H. Hollingsworth, and grandsons of Giles and Mary Hollingsworth of St. Clair Co., Ala.)

(5) Linly E. Hollingsworth (1974)

Linly E. Hollingsworth, Deer Trail, Colorado, husband of Cecile Hollingsworth, Deer Trail; father of Arnold Hollingsworth, Englewood, Colorado; Howard Hollingsworth, Spokane, Washington; Forest (Gene) Hollingsworth, Deer Trail; Marvin (Glen) Hollingsworth, Woodrow, Colorado; brother of Mavia Lamoroux, Mountayre, Iowa, Wilma Young, Dalles, Oregon, twelve grandchildren. Services 2 p.m. Thursday (March 14) 1974, at Deer Trail School Auditorium. Interment Evergreen Cemetery, Deer Trail, The Rev. Paul Andrews, officiating. Memorial gifts may be given to the Friends Church, Deer Trail. (Denver Post, week of March 10, 1974)

(6) Gene Hollingsworth, Ovid, Colorado (1974)

JULESBURG MAYOR, TWO ARE KILLED IN PLANE CRASH. Three persons, including the mayor of Julesburg, were found dead in the wreckage of a single-engine aircraft which crashed in the sandhills five miles south of Sedgwick Thursday night (March 14, 1974). Victims were identified as Mayor Clarence Ebke, Don Clausen of Julesburg, the pilot, and Gene Hollingsworth of Ovid. The men were killed during a rainstorm while returning from Goodland, Kan., to Julesburg.

Sedgwick County Sheriff Herb Fliethman said cause of the crash wasn't immediately known. Clausen was an experienced pilot and was commander of the Civil Air Patrol (CAP) unit in Sidney, Nebraska. Fliethman (sic) said Ebke and Clausen flew to Goodland to pick up Hollingsworth who was hired as a ranch hand on Clausen's farm near Julesburg. He said Clausen apparently met Ebke just before taking off from Julesburg and asked Ebke if he'd like to take the trip.

The CAP found the wreckage Friday morning. (Rocky Mountain News, Denver, Colorado, Saturday, March 16, 1974 - courtesy of Mrs. Jane Gear, Littleton, Colorado, who also sent item 5. It is probably just a coincidence that two men named Gene Hollingsworth appear in these items on consecutive days. Ovid is in the north east part of the state, while Deer Trail is in Arapahoe County just east of Denver.)

(7) Mrs. Elizabeth Hollingsworth, Avondale, Penna. (1895)

Mrs. Hollingsworth, of Avondale, whose serious illness has been referred to in these columns, died last evening from the effects of an operation which was recently performed upon her. She was the mother of Mrs. Lawrence Chambers, of this place. (Daily Local News, West Chester, Penna., April 27, 1895) Also: HOLLINGSWORTH - In Avondale, on Fourth-month 26th, Elizabeth Hollingsworth. Funeral from her late residence, in Avondale, on Third-day, Fourth-month 30th. 1895. Meet at the house at 10 o'clock a.m. Interment in New Garden Cemetery. (Ibid. This is in the Hollingsworth file of clippings, Chester County Historical Society, West Chester, Penna., courtesy John V. Hollingsworth, Chadds Ford, Pennsylvania.)

Miss Dianne Hollingsworth is Wed

Union, Mississippi - Jan. 31 (1974) Miss Dianne Hollingsworth became the bride of Samuel Marcus Clemons at First Baptist Church of Union. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Joe Hollingsworth of Union. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Clemons of New Orleans. Rev. Douglas White officiated. Music was by Mrs. B. Z. Ogletree, organist, and Miss Jane Hollingsworth, vocalist, sister of the bride. Mr. Hollingsworth gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's satin gown was designed with an empire bodice overlaid with reembroidered alencon lace featuring a sheer yoke and a wedding band collar accented with lace medallions and seed pearls. Her full-length illusion veil was bordered with scalloped lace and fell from a headpiece of lace and pearls. She carried a bouquet of red, yellow and white miniature roses.

Miss Jane Hollingsworth also attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Suzanne Williams and the Misses Debbie Clemons of Jackson, sister of the bridegroom; Nancy Gardner of Union and Lucy Young of Vicksburg. Attendants wore gowns of harvest gold and emerald green satin designed with empire bodices, long sheer sleeves and sheer yokes with beaded lace crown collars. They carried nosegays of yellow miniature roses. The bridegroom's father was best man. Groomsmen were Robert Lee Clemons of Jackson, brother of the bridegroom; Wayne Lyles of Jackson, Larry Kerr of Biloxi and David Guravich of Greenville. A reception was held at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemons entertained the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding at Colonial Inn in Philadelphia, Mississippi. A bridesmaids' luncheon was given by the bride's mother in her home the day of the wedding. (The Commercial Appeal, Memphis, Tennessee, Friday, Feb. 1, 1974, page 15. "Celestial Light" and "Young Love"

So help us as family tree climbers, Dear Readers! Those are two bonafide names of Heads of Families found near each other on page 84 reverse of the U.S. Census schedules for Pike Township, Knox County, Ohio, in 1820. In attempting to verify these men's names, your editor checked the respective printed indexes for the 1830, 1840 and 1850 Ohio schedules (Ohio is the only state graced with complete name indexes to all extant schedules 1820-1850) and found that Young Love prevailed - as it should be, you know, until he was past forty-five, but Celestial Light had gone out before 1830! It was ever thus.

Miss Dorothy Hollingsworth is director general of the British Nutrition Foundation, and recently told an audience at the University of Toronto during her address on nutritional problems in an affluent society that 'Our greatest nutritional problem today is energy.' She advocated regular moderate activity rather than relying on "energy foods." Miss Hollingsworth also stressed an increase of whole grain bread useage. Thekla Hollingsworth

Composer, Author - With the emergence of her fine talents which have made her equally at home in music and the literary arts, Thekla Hollingsworth (Mrs. Joseph Elihu Root Kunzmann) has firmly established her place among the distinguished American composers and authors of her generation,

Born in West Carroll Parish, Louisiana, she is a daughter of Dr. John Winn and Elizabeth Wells (Hill) Hollingsworth. She was educated under private tutors and at Maddox Seminary, and on December 28, 1911, was married (first) to Robert Cameron Andres. She married (second) Joseph Elihu Root Kunzmann, a New York advertising executive.

From 1921 to 1930, Miss Hollingsworth served as special representative for the Near East Relief in Europe, Asia, Egypt and the United States, meeting important responsibilities which contributed substantially to the success of that cause. She is best known, however, as an author and composer, and has written and published many works. These include: "Oh Miss Hannah," "Lucindy," "Comin' Home," "For You and Me," "Lady Moon," "Awake Beloved," "Two Pathways," "I Lift Mine Eyes Unto the Stars," "To Thee," "What at Last I Hear Thy Call," "My Ideal," "Eventide in Araby," "My Little Brown Nest by the Sea," "Needing You," "You," "When Twilight Slowly Gathers," "Last Year's Roses," "Dawn and Dusk," "The Moon Swings Low," "I heard a Lute at Eventide," "You Took All When You Said Good Bye," "My Aragon Rose," "Jes' Dreaming of You," "I am Coming Back to You," "I Will Sing Unto the Lord," "In a Garden of Enchantment," "Take Thou My Hand," "Last Night in My Garden of Dreams," "Kiss Me Dear," and "On Wings of Love."

Miss Hollingsworth is a member of the Song Writers Protective Association and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Her simple, unaffected lyrics have been widely popular, and the art and fine skill which they reveal have won her the profound respect of her professional colleagues. Miss Hollingsworth's principal hobbies are collecting antiques and psychical research. She is fond of dancing and outdoor sports, however, particularly horseback riding, golf, fishing and walking, which are her favorite recreations. In religious faith she is a Protestant. (See HR 7:107 for her obituary. She lived to be 82.)

Dr. Franklin Kidd

Hollingsworth Register regrets to announce the death, on May 7th 1974, of Dr. Franklin Kidd, C.B.E., M.A., D.Sc., F.R.S. at Appleby Cottage, 24 Woodland Road, Great Shelford, Cambridgeshire, England. He has been our correspondent for ten years. It was his fervent wish to collect the Kidd family records from South Ireland. We had only a month before his death, received the final results of his labors, a mimeographed history of these families. It was our pleasure to contribute to his material with some data we collected. Of course, you know that Martha Hollingsworth of Cranacrower, Ballycanew, Co Wexford, Ireland, married George Kidd of Askamore, Carnew, in the same county, in 1823 and they were close relations of our Frederick Hollingsworth.

Dr. Kidd never realized his goal of tracing his great grandfather, Benjamin Kidd, into the main stream of the family. But his own work is now a monumental contribution to the history of the clan.

He leaves his widow, Nest. He was Superintendent of the Low Temperature Research Station, Cambridge, from 1934 to 1937 and from 1947 to 1957 Director of Food Investigation, Dept. of Scientific and Industrial Research. He obtained his degrees at Cambridge University.

The funeral was held at Great Shelford Parish Church, Tuesday, 14 May 1974 at 11:30 a.m. followed by private cremation. (London Times, 10 May 1974, courtesy of Mr. R.R. Dobbin, Foxton, Cambridge.)

Mobberley Healds - Part One

In our issue of June 1973 we printed some interesting data on the ancestors of Elizabeth Heald, wife of Valentine Hollingsworth, Jr. The Parish of Mobberley, in Cheshire, was the ancestral home. Since that time we have had the great good fortune to examine the registers (copies) of both Wilmslow and Mobberley and to extract all entries of the surname. Mr. Jack Heald, 2160 Carrigan, Turlock, CA 95380 is the family historian, and we turned over to him the findings, and we urge all of you Heald descendants to contact him if interested. However in the issue mentioned, a theory of the pedigree was printed, which your editor now thinks may be up to question. This is because of the entries we publish here. We begin with the baptisms. This is a beautiful modern copy made in 1966 by a Mr. Alan Dale in England. It is a literal copy which has added exhaustive indexes of names and places. Unfortunately, The originals seem to have contained only the month and year of events until the year 1628! The registers begin on 5 April 1578.

Baptisms:

1. Ellen Heald, daughter of Thomas, Nov. 1578.
2. Katherine Heald, same, ffeb. 1581.
3. Edward Heald, same, Oct. 1583.
4. Rodger Heald, son of Henry, March 1584/85.
5. Edward Heald, son of Henry, Sept. 1585.

6. John Heald, a bastard, Feb. 1585/86. (Mother's name not given.)
7. Mary Eald (sic) daughter of Lawrence, Nov. 1586.
8. Elizabeth Heald, daughter of James, Dec. 1592.
9. Alice Heald, bapt. Dec. 1596 - father's name not given.
10. Elizabeth Heald, daughter of William Heald, Broad Oake Jan. 1598/9.
11. Margaret Heald, daughter of James Heald, Sept. 1599.
12. Anne Heald, daughter of Geffrey, March 1600.
13. Thomas Heald, a bastard, July 1601.
14. George Heald, son of William of Broad Oak, Dec. 1601. (See HR 9:40, 41 - This is the man whose will nuncupative was written down 2nd June 1645.)
15. William Heald, son of James, Jan. 1601/02.
16. Elen Heald, of same, Dec. 1602.
17. Katherine Heald, daughter of William, May 1604.
18. Anne Heald, daughter of James, March 1604/5.
19. Thomas Heald, of same, Feb. 1607/08.
20. June (sic) Heald, daughter of William, Sept. 1608.
21. William Heald, son of James, June 1610.
22. John Heald, same, June 1611.
23. Alice Heald, daughter of James of The Moss, Dec., 1612.
24. John Heald, same, ffeb. 1615/16.
25. William Heald, son of William, Alderley Parish, April 1616.
26. Elen Heald, daughter of Henry, March 1617/18.
27. John Heald, son of William, Parish of Alderly, Sept. 1617.
28. Elizabeth Heald, daughter of John, Feb. 1618/19.
29. Marie Heald, daughter of Henry, Feb. 1619/20.
30. Thomasine Heald, daughter of Geffrey, March 1620.
31. James Heald, daughter of James of Mosse, July 1621.
32. Thomas Heald, son of Geffry, April 1622.
33. Thomas Heald, son of George, Oct. 1623. (This is the wayward son Thomas, mentioned in the above cited Nuncupative Will. We think that this Thomas may be the grandfather of Elizabeth Hollingsworth wife of Valentine, Jr.)
34. Edward Heald, son of Geffrey, Jan. 1624/25.
35. George Heald, son of George, March 1627.
36. Edward Heald, son of same, 9 August 1629.
37. Robert Heald, son of same, 4 March 1631/32.
38. Anna Heald, daughter of same, 7 Dec. 1634.
39. John Heale (sic) son of William, 5 June 1636.
40. William Heale, son of Hugh, 24 Sept. 1637.
41. William Heale, son of William, 31 Dec. 1637.
42. Anna Heald, daughter of same, 8 March 1638/39.
43. Mary Heald, daughter of same, 26 Nov. 1641.
44. William Heald, son of Thomas, 11 July 1643.
45. John Heald, son of same, 15 Dec. 1644.
46. Sara Heald, daughter of same, 25 Aug. 1650.
47. Elizabeth Heald, same, 31 July 1653.
48. Anne Heald, same, of Broad Oak, 1 Dec. 1653.
49. Elizabeth Heald, of same, borne 2 March 1655/56.
50. Jane Heald, daughter of Thomas, 18 Dec. 1658. (Born.)
51. Sarah Heald, ditto, 2 July 1660. (Baptised.)
52. Mary, daughter of Thomas & Sarah Heald, Broad Oak 13 Sept 1663.
53. Margaret Heald, daughter of Thomas, 1 January 1664/65.
54. Charles Heald, son of Thomas of Broad Oak, 11 Dec. 1666.
55. Sarah Heald, daughter of James, born 31 Jan. 1698/99.

- 56. Jane Heald, daughter of Samuel, born 9 July 1700.
- 57. Samuel Heald, son of William Samuel, born 22 Sept. 1702.
- 58. Edward Heald, son of Edward (no date) 1703.
- 59. Mary Heald, daughter of William, born March 14, 1703/4.
(Stopped 24 March 1707.)

Next issue the marriages & burials. From the results of this search it seems to us that the following pedigree is possible:

(1) Thomas Heald, married before the Parish Registers begin; of Broad Oak. Probably same man buried in November 1589. Wife name not given, but possibly the Anne Heald buried in August 1585, or the Margaret buried in July 1586, or the Alice, June 1588. They had family, most of which probably born prior to first entry in now extant registers; last three the Ellen, Katherine and Edward, numbers 1-3 above baptised. Elder son William born probably about 1575. Following:

(2) William Heald, as above, born about 1575 or earlier, and died 14 April 1609, buried same month (HR 9:40) "householder." Married Alice Strettell (the Strettells were a family who later had Quaker members, Abel Strettell, of this number, later a well known merchant of Dublin, Ireland) "both of Mobberley" in May 1597. After his death she then married Geoffrey Hill, in Feb. 1618/19, at Mobberley Church. She survived her son George, and was mentioned in his nuncupative will. William seems to have had children: Elizabeth, George, Katherine, and "June" (Jane?) numbers 10, 14, 17 and 20 above.

(3) George Heald, son of above couple, eldest son and heir, was born 6 December 1601 (Inquisition as per HR 9:40) baptised same month at Mobberley; died in June 1645 "Of Broad Oak" buried 15 June same. And was author of the nuncupative will alluded to above. He married, 1 Oct. 1621 at Prestbury Parish next to Mobberley, Margaret Birtles. She seems to be the Quaker Margaret Heald, buried at Mobberley 13 June 1667. They were the parents of: Thomas, George, Edward, Robert, Anna, numbers 33, 35-38 baptisms above, also Margaret, all mentioned in his will, therefore all surviving their father.

(4) Thomas Heald, eldest son of above, baptised in Oct. 1623 at Mobberley Church. His father's nuncupative will indicates Thomas was "overgone him about ye latter end of Christmas before" with no consent, etc. and that his mother Margaret had gone out looking for him. We are certain that Thomas ran away to marry. In the Wilmslow Parish register, the marriage of "Thomas Heald of Cheadle Parish to Elizabeth Chorlton," 13 Feb. 1644/45. You see that this was "after Christmas" before the will of George was uttered to the Radfords who had it recorded! We think Thomas and Elizabeth were the later Quakers who were the parents of the James Heald, born 2nd month (April) 2nd day 1658, son of Thomas and Elizabeth Heald of Mobberley. James, in turn, is proved to be the father of Elizabeth Heald who married Valentine Hollingsworth, Junior. (See HR 9:37-41 for details.) There is still quite the possibility that the theory of Jack Heald is correct: James was the son of Thomas and Elizabeth (Hobson) Heald. (Ibid.)

James Heald married Elizabeth Steward who died 3rd of 2nd month 1708 aged about 40. (HR 9:39) She seems to be the same Elizabeth Steward, daughter of Henry (and Margaret Renshaw) Steward (also Stuard) of Mobberley baptised 27 Dec. 1666. (Parents married there 20 May 1656.) Henry Steward was probably the son of one Simon Steward who was having children from the 1620s, but baptism not at Mobberley.

Wayne County, Indiana Hollingsworth Marriages

Salt Lake City Genealogical Society of Utah, film serial number 540,242 of a typescript copy, period March, 1811 through September 1883, being complete Marriage Volumes 1-3 and A-N 17 books in all. A guess is that most of these represent former Quaker families, especially that of Henry (12) and his son Lawson (16) mentioned in our Dec. 1973 issue p.109.

HOLLINGSWORTHS IN ENNISCORTHY, CO. WEXFORD, IRELAND - 1833

Genealogical Society of Utah Serial number 33765 part 124, from the Tithe Applotment Book for the Parish of St. Mary's, Enniscorthy, signed Oct. 12, 1833, by Hans Hamilton Johnston, Commissioner. The Composition was made up prior to final approval. This is similar to a tax, and does not name all persons in the parish - only those owing tithes.

- (1) Commons, Nicholas Hollingsworth, 4 acres, 2 roods, 36 perches.
- (2) Town Fields, # 40 Thomas Hollingsworth, 4 acres, 2 roods, 30 perches
- (3) Ditto # 49 Widow Styles.
- (4) Ditto # 51 Nicholas Hollingsworth, 1 acre, 1 rood, 17 perches.
- (5) Ditto # 69 Thomas Hollingsworth, 2 acres, 2 roods, 36 perches.
- (6) Ditto # 70 Nicholas Hollingsworth in Guttle Street, 1 perch.
- (7) Pye Lane, Thomas Hollingsworth, 1 perch.
- (8) Ditto Nichs. Hollingsworth, 1 perch.

- (9) Market Street # 6 Nichs Hollingsworth 3½ perches L6:10s.
(10) Ditto # 11 Mary Hollingsworth (changed to Sarah in second copy of this book) 5 perches L6:10s

The landlord for most of the property in and around Enniscorthy, Co. Wexford, at this time was the Earl of Portsmouth. The above list looks large at first glance. However, there was only one Nicholas Hollingsworth in the town. He married Lucinda Styles and had a large family, all but one of whom emigrated in the 1850s to Madison County, New York and Hoboken, New Jersey. (HR 3:101-105 "Nicholas Hollingsworth Family of Enniscorthy, Ireland and Madison County, New York.") All plots under his name represent his holdings by lease. Thomas Hollingsworth seems to be the nephew of Nicholas, son of John and Sarah Maria (Berney) Hollingsworth also of Enniscorthy, which Thomas was baptised at Toome (Camolin) Parish March 9, 1806 (HR 1:71). We suppose that Mary recte Sarah listed here is the widow of John, nee Berney. John Hollingsworth of Enniscorthy was buried at Ballycanew Dec. 30, 1831 (HR 6:117) just about two years before this Tithe Book was completed. Sarah Hollingsworth's children removed to the vicinity of Liverpool, Lancashire, England, and Sarah herself died there in 1849. John had a lease of a house in Market Street, Enniscorthy, for 33 years. (See HR 5:124 for details.) All of these entries, therefore, are descendants of your editor's ancestor, John Hollinsworth of Ballinakill, (d. 12 May 1791) through his eldest son Thomas Hollinsworth (1740-1822) of Tomduff.

STAFFORDSHIRE Hearth Tax Report - Part Four STAFFORDSHIRE

Adding to this series, we quote from the William Salt Archaeological Society series Historical Collections of Staffordshire, 1923, 1925. We covered every name in the thousands published in these volumes, in original order with no index. The tax copied is 1669/1670, and 1662, 1666, for the Hundreds of Cuttlestone, Totmonslow, Lichfield and other places. Only the following of our surname were found:

- (1) John Hollingsworth, 1 hearth, in Bushbury & Moseley Constablewicks, Hundred of Seisdon, 1669/70, page 61 of 1923 volume.
 - (2) Jonas Hollinsworth, 2 hearths, Penford Constablewick, ditto, p. 76.

Union of Ballycanew in 1766

The "Religious Census" of Ireland for 1766 was lost in the 1922 fire of infamous memory at the Four Courts, Dublin. But Tenison Groves, a genealogist, copied some of it. He copied that for the Union of parishes including Ballycanew. But unfortunately, it is one of those which does not list names - only figures. From Bundle 81, Ferns Diocese, 26 April 1766, Union of Ballycanew # 1290, page 8316 Box 6 Film 258,486 Salt Lake City Gen. Society film. Rev. George Allen, Rector of the Union, gave these figures of population by religion:

Parish of Ballycanew	Protestants	37	Popish	86
Parish of Kiltrisk	"	12	"	65
Parish of Monomolin	"	49	"	173
Parish of Liskinfere	"	60	"	84
		158		408

We think this figure is in families, not individuals. Therefore a total of 566 families dwelt in these four parishes in the middle of the 18th century. Of these, at least two families, Samuel and John Hollinsworth, would be included in the Protestants in Ballycanew, and if the census had been like that of the adjoining parish of Kilbride, all names and ages would have been given! After searching for years for a copy of this census, this is a frustrating climax to the whole business.

William Marries Jacqueline, Both Hollingsworths!

"...And we shall unite the Red Rose with the White..." This line from the conclusion of Shakespeare's play "Richard III." seems to be appropriate here. It symbolized the end of the Wars of the Roses. Henry of Richmond, of Lancaster, had married the daughter of Edward IV. of York, and had just slain Richard "Crookback" at Bosworth in 1485 when Shakespeare makes him utter these words. By uniting the two houses in one Crown, the end of these factious woes would come, under Henry VII.

On a much more peaceful level, William Hollingsworth, a direct descendant of Valentine Hollingsworth, Sr., has wedded Jacqueline Hollingsworth, a direct descendant of John Hollinsworth of Ballinakill, County Wexford, Ireland! At last, the two Hollingsworth lines are united!

The background of this marriage is as thrilling as the actual event: In 1923, William Turner Pierce Hollingsworth, father of Jacqueline, was on a train trip. He had his golf clubs with him, and a ticket on the bag with "William Hollingsworth" on it. William Right Hollingsworth, a young midshipman attending Annapolis, passed along the isle and saw the ticket and said "That's my name!" The older man was genial, and a conversation ensued and Jacqueline's father liked the young man. W.T.P. Hollingsworth at that time lived in France. (He had the Chevalier of the Legion of Honor for his Relief Work during the Great War.) Jacqueline came over to America the next year and accompanied her father and her sister Beth to Annapolis for a June Week dance and parades. Miss Hollingsworth thought "Holly" was the handsomest man she had ever seen. They corresponded and she attended ball games at the Academy until he graduated in 1926. He went home on leave and she was given the news that he had been married! She then went her own way and married Gravereaux, a veteran of that war, and the two never saw each other again until forty-six years had passed! Meanwhile, Holly became Admiral William R. Hollingsworth. He served in the Second World War on the Aircraft Carrier "Enterprise" and led his squadrons of planes against the Japanese. He directed the making of the film The Fighting Lady, about the Enterprise, as a matter of fact. Admiral Hollingsworth, in 1972, went to Westport, Conn., to visit his son John Allen Hollingsworth. A new phone book was in the house, and his daughter-in-law said "They have added New Canaan to our book." Holly remembered that Jacqueline Hollingsworth had relatives in New Canaan, Connecticut, so he looked up the surname and found her sister's number, phoned, and asked her if she by any chance knew a Jacqueline Hollingsworth. The reply came "Yes! She is standing right here."

"I'm a widow but I have three sons and ten grandchildren" was Jacqueline's answer to Adm. Hollingsworth's next question.

"I am a widower and have three sons and ten grandchildren" came the Admiral's surprised retort.

More questions and answers, happiness and all that, visits to Adm. Hollingsworth's home in Florida with the children and grandchildren, and they were married on Feb. 27, 1973. Besides the sameness in number of offspring, Jacqueline's sister looks a lot like Admiral Hollingsworth's sister. And beside that, and the most interesting part about the similarity, both Adm. Hollingsworth and his wife have three kidneys! Not small, useless appendages, mind you, but full sized, functioning extra kidneys! Explain that, if you will. X-Rays established the fact. Mrs. Hollingsworth explains that others may have them and not know it unless such an examination were made. Is this a Hollingsworth characteristic?

Admiral Hollingsworth has a son, Judge William Right Hollingsworth of Manhattan Beach, California. This man was the first Hollingsworth your editor ever contacted in his research as he began with telephone canvassing in early 1960! Try that one on for coincidence. He was then an attorney with his own law firm here.

The Admiral is the son of Timothy Henry Hollingsworth, and was born at Fort Meade, Florida 70 years ago. Timothy was the son of William Right Hollingsworth. Based upon this information, we checked the Stewart book and find on p. 150 the information we think is right, and coupled with the U.S. Census and other records, it seems that the last William Right Hollingsworth named above was born in 1825 in Sampson or Duplin County, North Carolina, son of Stephen Hollingsworth by his 1st wife Elizabeth Colwell. Stephen was son of Zebulon and Elizabeth Chesnut Hollingsworth (of Henry⁴, Stephen³, Henry², Valentine¹, Henry^a.) Admiral Hollingsworth is ten generations down from Henry & Katherine Hollinworth of Ballyvickcrannell, Seagoe Parish, Co Armagh, Ireland, who flourished in 1630-32. Jacqueline is the daughter of Wm. T.P. Hollingsworth, born in 1860, son of John Hunter Hollingsworth, Jr., of John H. Senior, John, John Hollinsworth of Ballinakill, Ballycanew Parish, Co Wexford, Ireland, born 1713/14; died 1791. There seems to be no way to connect the two families, unless John was the son of a theoretical "Thomas" who was the son of Henry of King Hill, Co Down, (living 1693-1711) who we think might be the brother of Quaker Valentine. We highly doubt it, although the Co Down family insist the Wexfords did emigrate from there to Co Wexford about 150 to 200 years ago. (Facts show it was prior to 1746, if at all.) This theory would make both our subjects direct descendants of that ancient planter Henry of 1630, and seventh cousins, once removed, the Admiral being one generation further down than Jacqueline.

On the other hand, if the 3 kidney phenomenon is a genetic thing, it may, in fact, be that these folks are closer cousins on another line of ancestry! But we can't pick out any of the known factors in their other lineages which would be likely.

Whatever the truth, we thank Holly and Jacqueline Hollingsworth for allowing HR to print this story book romance. All good wishes!

"John M. Americandollar!"

If you cannot bring yourself to believe in Young Love or Celestial Light, then please try and put your trust in John M. Americandollar, aged 70, a gardener, born in Germany, with his wife Margaret and step-children living in Springfield, Illinois, according to the 1850 U.S. Census, page 7.

1820 Census Additions - Tennessee

A recently published index to the extant schedules of the state of Tennessee reveals that HR missed four Hollingsworth heads of families when this was canvassed for the issue of June 1966. It was partly our fault. Though the surname is horribly misspelled, as you can see, if your editor had been alert he would have caught these anyway. We add these to the 14 heads of families already published in HR 2:60.

15. Jacob "Whallingworth"	000010-10100	Page 413	Wilson County.
16. James "Whallingworth"	100010-30010	" "	" "
17. John "Whallingworth"	300010-11010	" "	" "
18. Rebecca "Whallingworth"	101100-10101	" "	" 3 slaves.

Comment: Moses Ashford is enumerated directly next to Jacob. This indicates that these are Hollingsworths alright, for Moses Ashford was the son in law of Jacob Hollingsworth, Sr., of Union District, South Carolina, whose will is published in HR 1, page 114 naming children Abraham, Daniel, Amos, Jacob, Hannah Ashford and Martha McC Carson and a granddaughter Nellie Smith - will dated Feb. 21, 1816. It may be, therefore, that Jacob, James and John above are Jacob's grandchildren, and that Rebecca is the widow of one of the sons - Abraham or Amos. The reason we specify these two is that we know Jacob Jr. went to Pickens County, Alabama, and Daniel went to Knox County, Indiana. In this same county - name properly spelt - is William Hollingsworth, and in 1830, Isaac. In the 1830 census, incidentally, we have suspicions that there are more misspellings. For instance, in the same neighborhood with Moses Ashford on page 154 we have, in this order, Isaac Hollingsworth, Francis Spurlock, Moses Ashford, William Holland, Robert King, William Keaton, Lewis Hancock, Joel Person, Jacob Holland and John Holland. No "Hollingsworths" other than Isaac. Suspicious? Yes. In 1840 we find Isaac Hollandsworth on page 83 and Jacob and John Hollandsworth on page 84 in Wayne County, Tennessee, with the Keatons, Fustons and others, which seems to indicate they all moved together. In the 1850 schedules you will see that some of these people were natives of Virginia. (HR 5:58) See also Cannon County (HR 5:54) which shows Ashfords living with Hollingsworths, formerly found in Wilson County.

Here is opened up another possible clue to the origin of the two Mississippi pioneers - Isaac and Jacob Hollingsworth! All the relevant names are here: Jacob, Isaac, William, and Smith. Their births (Isaac and Jacob) in North Carolina still makes it possible, for Jacob, Sr., (d. 1816) is known to have been in North Carolina before going to Union District, South Carolina. He would have to be their grandfather, of course, through either one or the other of his two sons, Abraham or Amos Hollingsworth. In this case, one of them would have to be born before 1754 to be father of Jacob of Mississippi, born c1775.

Another Calvert Will

This Testator was probably the son of Thomas Hollingworth, Everton, whose will was dated 28 Feb. 1538/9 (HR 5:8 item 2) who named eldest son Leonard Hollingworth. This would take the pedigree into the 1400s.

Rev. Arthur George Harper Hollingsworth

This man was an eminent clergyman in Ireland and England. We will make an effort here to put all that we know about him into one article. There is no biographical sketch of his life as far as HR knows.

Arthur George Harper Hollingsworth was born at Hackney in Middlesex, near London, and baptised at the Established Church of St. John, Hackney, 26 May 1802, son of Samuel and Martha Elizabeth (Karr) Hollingsworth. (Baptism in extracts of that parish register, in Boddington Papers, Sherwood Genealogical Collection Film 3023 part 4 SLC.) He died at Langer House, Felix Stow, near Ipswich, Suffolk, on 2 Jan. 1859 at the age of about 57 years. His father, Samuel Hollingsworth, is variously and meagerly styled "R.N." (Royal Navy) and "of Ince Hall, Lancashire." (See HR 6:165 for Arthur's Probate Act.) Because of the "Samuel" we naturally would like to see if he belongs to our Irish family. No luck yet. Reverend Arthur G. H. Hollingsworth is also himself styled Doctor of Physic or Medical Doctor, in some records. (HR 1:106, 107.) Samuel Hollingsworth died at Stow Market, Suffolk, where his son was vicar of the Parish, in 1843 (HR 4:99) but his Administration was taken in the Irish Prerogative Court. Martha probably died at Stow Market too, but we do not know the date.

Arthur married Margaret Selby Montford in June 1825, at Cove, Co. Cork, Ireland, according to the Cork "Constitution" June 25. (HR 7:124) Her surname is also spelt Montfort. She was the second daughter of the late Peter Montfort, Esquire, also formerly of Cork. At the time of th marriage he was of Dublin. His wife is said by him to be descended of Hugh de Montfort, Earl of Leicester. He calls his wife "de Montfort." (The History of Stow Market 1844, by Rev. A.G.H. Hollingsworth, M.A. p. 63.) In this work he also explains that his mother, Martha E. Karr, is the daughter of A. G. Karr, Esq., of Highbury Grove, and his wife Martha de Vere, a descendant of the 1st Earl of Oxford. A. G. Karr was the son of Dr. A. Karr, state physician to the Duke of Athol, Isle of Man, who was the son of Rev. A. Ker (sic) of Wigtown, Scotland, living 1700. This man was eldest male of John Ker of Fernlie, eldest male of Ker of Cessford, "from whom the Dukes of Roxburgh (Scotland) proceed." The reader may understand, your editor has not checked this out! With all of this, the good vicar does not extend his Hollingsworth pedigree at all! He does, however, as do others, (!) claim descent from "a castle in Cheshire" which had Hollingworth as its name, and the coat of arms with the 3 holly leaves. However, he gives his motto "Semper eadem."

Your editor knows of at least one prominent minister of the Church of England and Ireland who deliberately claimed to be "Eleventh Baronet of Stragglethorpe in County Lincoln" unrightfully and flagrantly, by descent from a man who never existed! "Beware of wolves in sheep's clothing!" Good advice, even in genealogy.

Rev. Hollingsworth was ordained in the Cathedral of St. Colman, Cloyne, Co Cork, Feb. 15, 1829, and instituted as Rector of Monkstown, same county, Aug. 13, 1835. This information was contained in a letter to your editor dated Sept. 13, 1962 from Canon William W. Johnston, Marmullane Rectory, Passage West, Co Cork. The same writer explained that one "S. Hollingsworth, Esq." had contributed £300. to the building of the Monkstown Church! Rev. Hollingsworth resigned the parish Jan. 11, 1836 to become Vicar of Stowmarket in Suffolk. His signatures appear in the regular Vestry Minutes of the Monkstown Church. His widow Margaret died at Felix Stow, Co Suffolk, on 21 Jan. 1862. Her estate was valued at under £1,500. A very substantial sum. Arthur's estate was figured at the same valuation. Both left wills, but we have not seen either of them.

East Anglian Notes & Queries, Vol IX Feb. 1901, Part CXCV page 32 has a query from a Charles Partridge, Jun., Stowmarket, who challenges the Rev. Hollingsworth's right to do, as he has done - to quarter the several coats of arms of Karr, de Vere and Christian. The querist rightly asks if "his ancestresses were heraldic heiresses." Interestingly, it is pointed out in the same journal that the tablet erected in Stowmarket Church to the father, Samuel Hollingsworth, only bears the arms for Hollingsworth without any quartering!

Rev. Arthur G. H. Hollingsworth was a prolific author of books and tracts of a religious nature, but not on the evangelistic theme; rather on the erudite Victorian ethics of his time. Consult any Library of Congress Catalog or that of the British Museum, for a list of his works. (Notes on Stowmarket History courtesy Suffolk County Library, Ipswich, by letter dated 15 Dec. 1970.)

The Rev. Hollingsworth entered Trinity College, Dublin, Oct. 16, 1820 aged 18, "son of Samuel Hollingsworth, Gentleman. Born London." He received his B.A. in Spring 1825 and M.A. Spring 1828. (HR 3:163.)
